

A 18th century Western Asia ring.

Circa: 18th - 19th century

Gold alloy

UK size P^{1/2}; 7,65 gr

Western Asia, 18th-19th century

A delicately modelled Western Asiatic solid gold coil with flat endings, featuring a tubular body moving in a tight spiral. Gold rings of this type would have probably been used in antiquity as hair ornaments, earrings or as part of bracelets or bangles