

A Late Victorian gold ring with a beetle.

Circa: Late 19th century

Gold (15 k- hallmarks)

UK size O ¹/₂ ; total weight 3,68 gr

Late 19th century

The rounded ring extending in broader shoulders of vegetal pattern is surmounted by an elongated oval box-setting carefully engraved with lotus flower alternated of semi-circular symbol. In the center, a finely carved amethyst scarab, inspired from the Ancient Egyptian scarab rings.

A beautiful example of the Egyptian Revival taste during the Grand Tour and neoclassical era.
